

Speakers

Tracey Craig, MA has practiced individual counseling and psychological assessment for over 20 years. She earned her undergraduate degree at Clemson University, and a master's degree in Clinical Psychology from Western Carolina University. She currently works as an evaluation psychologist for the SC Department of Juvenile Justice and is adjunct faculty at USC Union and USC's Palmetto College.

Benjamin Adam Dennis, MD is an Adult Endocrinologist in Columbus, Georgia. He completed his medical training at Medical College of Georgia in Augusta and has volunteered at diabetes camps around the southeast for the past decade.

Chris Houk, MD is a Pediatric Endocrinologist in Augusta, Georgia and is affiliated with Children's Hospital of Georgia Augusta University. He received his medical degree from the University of South Carolina School of Medicine. Dr. Houk is the Medical Director for Camp Sweet Escape and serves as the Chairman and Treasurer for SCYDA.

Remberto Paulo, MD is a Pediatric Endocrinologist in Charleston, South Carolina and is affiliated with the Medical University of South Carolina. He received his medical degree from the University of the Philippines College of Medicine.

Elizabeth Hyatt, Esq. is an attorney in Lancaster, SC. One of her primary practice areas is in helping parents of children with special needs obtain appropriate services and accommodations in schools. Elizabeth has a BA in Special Education from Converse College and a law degree from the University of South Carolina. She has been practicing law for twenty-six (26) years.

Traci P. Scott, RN, CDE is a nursing graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School of Nursing. She is a Certified Diabetes Educator and also a Certified Pump Trainer for Animas, Omnipod, and Tandem. Traci is the CDE at Children's Hospital of Georgia Augusta University. She enjoys volunteering with the South Carolina Youth Diabetes Association and Camp Sweet Escape. Traci serves as the Secretary for SCYDA.

Mark Vanderwel, MD is the Medical Director of Pediatric Endocrinology and Diabetes Specialists in Charlotte, NC. He did his undergrad at Macalester College in St. Paul, MN; Medical School at Michigan State University; Residency in Charlotte, NC; and fellowship at University of Texas Southwestern in Dallas, TX. He has been practicing in Charlotte since 2005 and became the Medical Director of the practice in 2012.

Christopher W. Wimberly, MD is a 1995 graduate of Wofford College, a 2000 graduate of the Medical University of South Carolina and completed his Family Medicine residency at Spartanburg Regional Medical Center in 2003. Currently he is employed by the U.S. Department of Veteran Affairs in Primary Care. His passion for Type 1 Diabetes was inspired when his son, William, was diagnosed in 2008 at the age of 3. He enjoys volunteering at diabetes summer camps and raising awareness and funds for T1D.